EXPERIENCE

Sales Manager · Tipografia Everest, Bucharest, Romania

2013 – Present

Printing house serving business clients.

I lead the sales team — hiring, setting targets, and coaching — while keeping my own hand on the largest accounts. My job is to turn a pipeline into predictable revenue and to make sure the clients who trust us stay with us year after year.

- Lead the sales team: setting clear targets, giving direction, and keeping every member motivated and accountable.
- Own the key accounts: managing the relationships that carry the most revenue, from first contact to renewal.
- Build the pipeline: forecasting, prioritising opportunities, and keeping the numbers honest.
- Negotiate and close: pricing, contracts and terms with business clients of every size.
- Recruit and develop salespeople: hiring, onboarding and coaching a team that performs as a unit.
- Establish the sales process: consistent practices from lead to delivery, so results do not depend on heroics.
- Work alongside production: aligning what is sold with what can be delivered, on time and to specification.

Sales Team Lead · [Distribuitor industrial], Bucharest, Romania

2009 – 2013

B2B distributor — placeholder until the real employer is confirmed.

My first leadership role: coordinating a team of sales representatives while still carrying a portfolio of my own. I learned that a team hits its targets when each person knows exactly what is expected and gets help before they ask for it.

- Coordinate the sales team: daily direction, weekly reviews, and shared targets everyone could see.
- Coach representatives: joining client meetings, reviewing offers, and building each person's confidence to close.
- Manage the team pipeline: keeping opportunities moving and forecasts realistic.
- Keep a personal portfolio: the accounts I brought in stayed with me while I led the team.

Key Account Manager · [Furnizor de servicii B2B], Bucharest, Romania

2006 – 2009

B2B services provider — placeholder until the real employer is confirmed.

Responsible for the accounts that mattered most: understanding each client's business well enough to anticipate what they would need next, and negotiating agreements both sides could live with for years.

- Manage key accounts: single point of contact for the largest business clients.
- Negotiate contracts: pricing, terms and renewals, with retention as the measure of success.
- Grow existing accounts: finding the next need before the client went looking elsewhere.
- Coordinate delivery: making sure what was promised was what arrived.

B2B Sales Representative · [Companie de distribuție], Bucharest, Romania

2004 – 2006

Distribution company — placeholder until the real employer is confirmed.

- Prospect new business clients: cold outreach, first meetings, and a growing list of companies that said yes.
- Present and quote: matching the offer to what the client actually needed.
- Build the habits: a full pipeline, a clean CRM, and follow-ups that never slipped.

KEY ACHIEVEMENT

Growing the B2B Client Portfolio

Sales Manager · Tipografia Everest

Built and grew a portfolio of business clients through consistent prospecting, careful account management and a focus on keeping the clients we already had. The measure was not the size of the list but how many of those clients were still with us years later.
