SUMMARY

In sales since 2000 and in the printing industry since 2001. Today I run the sales office at Tipografia Everest — coordinating the sales agents while keeping a client portfolio of my own — and the whole commercial cycle is part of the job: the price offer, the negotiation, the contract, the order through production, and the payment collected on time.

- In sales since 2000, in the printing industry since 2001
- Head of the sales office at Tipografia Everest since 2015; there since 2012
- The whole commercial cycle: offer, negotiation, contract, production, collection
- A start in accounting and marketing — the numbers behind every offer

EXPERIENCE

Head of Sales Office · Tipografia Everest, Bucharest, Romania April 2015 – Present
Bucharest printing house — 30 years, a team of over 140, offset and digital.

Promoted in April 2015, three years after joining as a sales representative. The sales work carries on as before; what the role adds is the office itself — how the agents report, how the jobs are shared out, and how sales works with production, dispatch and finance.

- Coordinate the sales agents: their daily activity reports, delivered on the deadlines the Commercial Director sets.
- Share out the work: allocating jobs among the agents together with the Commercial or General Director, so the load is fair.
- Supervise client visits: planning the agents' trips to clients and the resources they need.
- Offers on time: proposing changes to the sales office's daily work so that price offers go out when promised.

Sales Representative · Tipografia Everest, Bucharest, Romania

February 2012 – April 2015

- Client portfolio: answering requests for offers, passing orders into production on the agreed terms, and keeping each client informed at every stage of their order.
- New business: finding and contacting potential clients, and answering requests from every sales channel in good time.
- Contracts: preparing, negotiating and signing printing-service contracts within the limits set by the Commercial and General Directors.
- Client checks: every new client verified with the payment-incidents register, the Trade Register and the insolvency records before a contract is signed.

Senior Sales Executive · RH Printing, Bucharest, Romania

May 2003 – February 2012

The Rațiu family's printing house, one of the most modern in the country; taken over by Everest in 2012.

Almost nine years of selling print: a portfolio of business clients of my own, quotes on complex jobs, and a standing line to production so that what was sold was what got delivered. In February 2012, when Everest took over RH Printing, I continued at Everest.

- Business client portfolio: prospecting, quoting, and managing the relationship for the long term.
- Quoting print work: specifications, print runs, deadlines and a price that was right for each job.
- Coordination with production: following every order from approval to delivery.
- Key accounts: the clients with steady volume, kept year after year.
